Description:

Based on the material required for the 2,200-hour massage therapy curriculum in Ontario, Canada, plus additional conditions that have been seen in clinical practice. At 1178 pages, it is extensively researched (over 650 citations in the bibliography), with an index and over 300 illustrations. Therapists and reviewers have found the information readable and easily accessible. Why buy this book? Therapists and Students While few practitioners have only one book on their bookshelf, people have described this text as the ultimate one-stop reference guide for treatment. It covers not only the pathology and anatomy, but also the assessment protocols you need, plus actual treatment plans and client self-care tips for the 70 different conditions listed.

PREFACE Clinical Massage Therapy is designed for both the massage therapy student and the professional therapist in practice. The book covers the requirements of a treatment-based curriculum for a professional massage therapy training program that is a minimum of 2,200 hours in length. No recommendations were provided for remaining treatments/populations, due to either insufficient or absent data. Recommendations are as follows. ASWPD 5.1.4a The TF suggests that clinicians treat adult ASWPD patients with evening light therapy (versus no treatment). [WEAK FOR]. This update should provide clinicians with heightened confidence with respect to prescribing select treatments and, equally importantly, should serve as a roadmap for future studies that will propel higher quality, more sophisticated therapies for the intrinsic CRSWDs. DSWPD 5.2.6.1a The TF suggests that clinicians treat DSWPD in adults with and without depression with strategically timed melatonin (versus no treatment). [WEAK FOR].
