Alexander McQueen was the king of British fashion and his brilliant legacy lives on in his scarf designer nephew Gary. Gary McQueen designs scarves you can wear, or hang on the wall as works of art. In some ways he is only following in the footsteps of his uncle, for Gary is the 39-year-old nephew of late, great, designer Alexander McQueen, who died in 2010. Alexander's famous scarves were decorated with their own skull motif, and fans of the McQueen brand will find a similarity in Gary's richly Gothic, romantic prints. There is a gorgeous yet sinister appeal in Gary's work that is reminiscent of his uncle. And so, by combining the trademark McQueen dark Gothic imagination with the very latest designer tech, even the demure silk scarf is revolutionised. Alexander would approve.

In another nod to Alexander McQueen a small number of the scarves will be sold exclusively at Anderson & Sheppard, the first Savile Row tailor the legendary designer worked for.
