THE BIG PICTURE

- SUPPLY (LISTED): In March 2008, SFR supply was 569 and Condo supply was 757. The current supply is a significant gain over the same time last year, especially for Condo.
- DEMAND (SOLDS PER MONTH): Demand in March 2008 was 131 closings per month for SFR and 140 per month for Condo. The current demand schedule for both types is a large and significant decrease for both types (about -35% overall).
- FAILURES: Down from March 2008—not significant.
- SALE PENDING (FUTURE CLOSINGS): 2008 data not available at this time.
- PERCENT SELLING: Percent Selling remains the same as 2008 for both types even though volume is significantly reduced.
- MONTHS SUPPLY: SFR Months Supply up 1.9 months. Condo Months Supply has doubled. This doubling is a significant outcome caused by the increase in supply and reduction in demand.
- MARKET SPEED: Speed of market down 14 points (30%) for SFR and over 50% for Condo when compared to March 2008. Market Speed measures how quickly listings are being converted to closings. The higher this number (the longer the bar), the faster and more efficiently the market is operating. All other things being equal, listings in high Market Speed areas are superior to those in low performing areas and more attractive to buyers.
- PRICES: All price indicators very negative with meaningful declines. Currently, there are about 215,000 bank owned properties in California. San Francisco County's share of that count is about 665 or about 1.9 per 1,000 county homes. This places the county in rank 57 out of 58 counties. Consequently, it is difficult to directly connect the current price weakness to the REO count.

MCR TIP

List price is set by the seller and listing agent and is an informed “guess” at market price. Market price is set by the interaction of buyers and sellers and their agents in the aggregate. A clear indicator that list price is inaccurate is a lack of consistent showing activity.
